

Monika Feist

Monika Feist is CEO of Success Skills Centre - a not-for-profit organization recognized as a centre of excellence for helping internationally trained professionals and skilled workers to enter the mainstream of the Canadian workplace, in their specific occupational sector and receive their accreditation. She is the recipient of both “The Citation for Citizenship” and several Long Service awards by the federal Minister of Immigration and Citizenship.

Monika brings a variety of experience from the federal, provincial, private and not-for-profit sectors, as an innovator, change-maker and advocate for policy and program service delivery changes in a host of areas, especially in employment and training, immigration, diversity and human rights issues. She was one of the founders of the Manitoba Immigrant, Refugee Settlement Sector Association, which recently changed its name to MANSO (Manitoba Association of Newcomer Serving Organizations). She has served as a leader in a number of national, provincial and local organizations. As a side interest, presently she is also the president of the Manitoba Fencing Association.
