It has been another exciting year for the Communications Committee. For those of you who are unaware, the purpose of the committee is to produce the quarterly issues of the Keystone Professional. It's been three years since we made the switch from five issues per year to four, along with the new glossy full colour format, and the Keystone is better than ever!

Our goal is to not only inform the membership of the activities of the APEGM council and the Association, but to provide information that would be of interest to our membership as well. This year we ran feature articles on electric cars and vehicle safety, major construction projects within the province and the practices of the Canadian Engineering Accreditation Board. We have also succeeded in becoming more prepared from issue to issue, often planning features up to three issues in advance.

As chair of this committee, I want to take this opportunity to thank all of the committee members for their continued efforts and dedication in making the Keystone Professional the success that it is. The past year has been one of stability for the committee with member turnover limited to one person. As well, a special thank you also goes out to Angela Moore, who is the APEGM staff representative on the committee. Without her efforts, none of this would be possible.
