ENGINEERS GEOSCIENTISTS MANITOBA

CANADIAN INDIGENOUS SELF-DECLARATION

In order to achieve an increasing Indigenous membership, Engineers Geoscientists Manitoba asks you to self-declare if you are of Indigenous ancestry. By self-declaring as an Indigenous member, Engineers Geoscientists Manitoba will be able to:

- Benchmark the number of Indigenous professionals in the membership.
- Gather data for statistical analysis, which will assist the Association in tracking its progress towards meeting its commitment to increase the recruitment and retention of Indigenous professionals in Manitoba.
- Determine strategic steps toward developing Indigenous engineering and geoscience professionals.
- Create, improve and communicate supports for Indigenous members.

Are you a Canadian Indigenous person? Yes ☐ No ☐

A Canadian Indigenous person is an Aboriginal as defined in the Constitution Act, of Canada and includes First Nations, Métis and Inuit persons. First Nations persons include "Status", "Treaty" or "Registered" Indians as well as individuals of aboriginal descent who are "Non-Status" and "Non-Registered" Indians.

If "Yes" above, please select one: First Nations ☐ Métis ☐ Inuit ☐

Name: _____

Member #: _____ Date: _____

Signature _____

In addition to self-declaring for the above reasons, I would like to receive communication about the Indigenous Professionals Initiative Committee of Engineers Geoscientists Manitoba. Information includes event invitations, career advice and mentoring.
